

BUILD A BUNGALOW IN THE DISMAL SWAMP

Suffolk Deer Club Erecting Unique Structure That Will Gladden Sportsmen's Hearts.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SUFFOLK, VA., March 3.—Down in the recesses of the Dismal Swamp, surrounded by the fastnesses of primeval forest and Indian-like jungles, near by the juniper-trees, whistling-colored waters that lazily lap the shores of Lake Drummond, the Suffolk Deer Club is building a bungalow.

The cottage will be constructed of juniper sticks, chinked with sand and cement, and fittingly thatched.

The "shack," when done, will be furnished with sportman-like comforts, its walls decorated with deer antlers and other trophies of the chase, while over the floors for furs and bear skins will be spread in cozy confusion.

The clubmen will fish in the spring and summer time, and shoot in fall and winter.

On one side they may reel in the hungry swamp bass, while on the other their comrades of the sylvan hunt are firing through bungalow windows at stalking deer, or doing death to the bears that prowl by night.

On the front of their lake-side slant, they may angle for sunfish without the bother of the cottage steps, as others on the rear get busy in the irrigation of frog farms.

Still others, too indolent to handle rod or gun, even in the swampy paradise, may joll on the inside in semi-dress and do battle with mosquitoes and May flies.

As an accessory to additional piscatorial allurements, President Allen, of the Deer Club, is building a white canoe to be christened the Firefly, and fashioned after the craft used by the near-immortal heroine of Tom Moore's epic during the night vigils left by herself and the lightning-bugs as she paddled to the music of the bog vermin.

With all these things and more, these Suffolk sportsmen are fixing to erect a place where they may enjoy the spring-fair season, as well as the dog-day period later on.

The club is a kind of close corporation composed of the well-known business and professional men.

There are just a dozen members—R. R. Allen, president; Frank A. Holladay, secretary-treasurer; John W. Eley, Judge R. H. Rawles, Tom Old, James H. Corbett, W. J. Gray, H. E. Smith, Dr. C. J. Riddick, Dr. R. H. Hart, Jesse Brinkley and Lee Marshall.

WOMAN'S STRANGE CASE
Becomes Exorcised About Religion and Feared She Will Die.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FREDERICK, VA., March 3.—Miss Catherine Fleming of near Clintwood is reported in a critical condition, from which she is not expected to recover.

Her symptoms are rather peculiar. Some months ago, while Fleming became intensely religious and joined the Baptist Church. From that time forward her actions were noticeable, and she was thought that she was becoming mentally deranged. She grew reserved and moody, and shunned the society of her friends. During the past week she has been in a mental state as well as a physical one, and her death has been looked for at any hour.

She is about twenty-five, and has always been held in the highest esteem by her acquaintances, and is attracting considerable attention.

SMALLPOX IN SPOTSYLVANIA.
Authorities to Take Rigorous Steps to Prevent Its Spread.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SPOTSYLVANIA, VA., March 3.—Special advisers received here by Commonwealth's Attorney Thomas S. Coleman state that several cases of smallpox have developed in upper Spotsylvania in the vicinity of Warco.

The members of the board of health have been officially notified by Mr. Coleman, and immediate steps will be taken to prevent the further spread of the disease in that section.

Later advice from the state that smallpox has crossed the Caroline county line into Southeastern Spotsylvania. This disease has been existing for some two months past in Caroline, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the board of health of that county to prevent its spread.

MR. QUABLES GIVES HUNT.
Richmond Banker Host at Pleasant Event at the Mecklenburg.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
THE MECKLENBURG, CHASE CITY, VA., March 3.—Mr. J. M. Quables, of Richmond, who has been spending the past month here, and left on Saturday morning, greatly improved, showed his appreciation by giving a complimentary fox hunt to the guests of the Mecklenburg on the day prior to his departure.

The chase was wildly exciting, the fox being run through the Mecklenburg lawn by the whole pack of hounds, and all being in full view of the guests of the hotel, who formed an interested crowd of spectators on the broad veranda, and was finally captured a mile and a half from town.

DOCTORS MEET IN THE COCKADE CITY

Southside Medical Association and Petersburg Medical Faculty in Joint Session.

OTHER PETERSBURG NEWS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PETERSBURG, VA., March 3.—The Southside Virginia Medical Association and the Petersburg Medical Faculty met in joint session at half-past 2 o'clock this afternoon at the hall of the Chamber of Commerce, and were called to order by Dr. L. Lofton, of Emporia, president of the association, who announced that as Dr. E. F. Reese, of Courtland, the recording secretary, would not be able to attend, he would request the association to elect Dr. O. C. Wright, of Jarratt, to act as secretary.

Dr. J. Bolling Jones, president of the Petersburg Medical Faculty, welcomed the visiting physicians to Petersburg in a most genial and courteous address, extending the hospitality of the Petersburg colleagues collectively, and individually, to which Dr. Bernard Barrow, of Barrow's Store, responded in like spirit. Dr. W. S. Powell, of Woodview, who was to respond to the address of welcome, was prevented by a sudden illness, and Dr. E. F. Reese, of Courtland, the recording secretary, was called to the fore to read the report of the association, which was a most interesting and comprehensive annual address, treating of subjects of immediate and extensive importance to the profession, was read by the president, Dr. Lofton.

At the session this afternoon Dr. William F. Drewry, of this city, president of the Medical Society of Virginia, delivered an admirable address on the subject of "Medical Organization," and under the subject "periparturient toxemia" in various phases interesting papers were read by Dr. J. Bolling Jones, of Petersburg, and Dr. J. D. Davis, of Emporia, and John P. Winn, of Richmond. The subject of "Inguinal Adenitis" was dealt with by Dr. R. T. McNair, of Emporia, and a paper on "Treatment of Prostatic Hypertrophy" was read by Dr. J. Shelton Horsley, of Richmond. "General Treatment of Pulmonia" was the subject of Dr. J. D. Davis, of Emporia, and Dr. J. D. Davis, of Emporia.

The afternoon session was closed with the reading of an article on "Reason for Immediate Operation in Appendicitis," by Dr. Kirkland Ruffin, of Norfolk.

Treatment of Tuberculosis.
The treatment and prevention of tuberculosis was the subject of a series of papers and discussions at the night session of the joint meeting. Intense interest was manifested by every one in the audience, which included a considerable number of ladies. Dr. Charles R. Grandy, of Norfolk, was unable to be present, and his treatise on "Tuberculosis a Preventable Disease," was read by Dr. J. D. Davis, of Emporia. Papers on the prevention and treatment of the disease were also read by Dr. W. F. Drewry and R. A. Martin, and a brief address by Dr. E. C. Levy, of Richmond, on the fight of the Health Department against the disease in that city, was heartily applauded. Dr. Levy paid a handsome compliment to the work of Dr. J. D. Davis, of Emporia, in the Central State Hospital in treating tuberculosis among the negroes. A study of the causes of the great increase in heart and kidney disease in recent years was the title of a treatise read by Dr. J. Allison Hodges, of Richmond.

Dr. L. S. Gale, of Ivor, Va., and Dr. W. C. Horton, of Petersburg, were to-day elected members of the association. The meeting adjourned after 11 o'clock, and was pronounced the most interesting and successful in the history of the Southside Virginia Medical Association. After adjournment the visiting physicians were entertained by the Petersburg medical faculty at a "cockade" at the Hotel Virginia.

At a meeting of the Fourth District members of the Medical Society of Virginia to-night, with Dr. W. E. Anderson, of Farmville, presiding, and Dr. L. S. Early as secretary, Dr. S. A. Hinton, of Petersburg, was nominated as member of the executive council of the society.

THE NEWS OF PETERSBURG.

Two Couples Wed in Other Cities—Dr. Drewry's Appointment Popular.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PETERSBURG, VA., March 3.—The announcement of the marriage to-day in Roanoke of Miss Loraine Cank, daughter of Mr. W. A. Cank, and Mr. E. F. Reese, of Petersburg, a son of Mr. Simon Seward and a well-known young Petersburg business man, was made here by a member of the bride's family. The wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. T. C. Vest, an aunt of the bride, and was a large affair, with many guests.

Mr. John M. Hanrahan, the courteous and popular proprietor of the Chesterfield Hotel, and Miss Julia Whyte, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Whyte, of this city, left late this afternoon for Richmond, where they were married this evening by the Rev. Father O'Farrell, of this city, and the Rev. Father Coleman, of Manchester. Mr. and Mrs. Hanrahan will go North on their bridal tour.

Dr. Drewry's Appointment.
The appointment of Dr. William Francis Drewry as a member of the board of visitors of the University of Washington, announced by the University of Washington, was a great pleasure to the many admiring friends of that distinguished physician in this city, both as a compliment to the doctor and a valuable acquisition to the university.

United States Engineer Kuhne, who is in charge of rivers and harbors, was to-day inspected the work on the diversion of the Appomattox River yesterday, and expressed himself as much pleased with the progress made. The big suction dredge is now in Gilliam's meadow, just opposite the city, where it has been under way for several days before resuming the cutting of the channel between the Atlantic Coast Line's new bridge in Peachmont and the point of intersection of the new waterway with the old river. This is a short section, but it has been under way for several days before resuming the cutting of the channel between the Atlantic Coast Line's new bridge in Peachmont and the point of intersection of the new waterway with the old river. Hungry as a Bear and Can't Eat.

II. When Medicine Comes, You Suffer From a Yes-Not Kind of Hunger. You're a Dyspeptic.

How to Cure All Stomach Troubles.

A good many people get mad when you tell them they are dyspeptic, but you may down deep in their stomachs they know they've got it.

"I'd love to eat, but I can't," is one kind of dyspepsia.

"I hate to think of it," is another kind. There are thousands of people who are dyspeptic, and they don't know it.

They haven't that fine empty-hungry eat-everything-kind of feeling which goes with every good, strong, healthy stomach. That's because they have dyspepsia. And then there are others whose mouths don't water at meals, or at any other time they sit at the table and go through the motions, only because it's time to eat. These people, too, are dyspeptic.

Every possible kind of stomach trouble can be cured by taking something which will just take right hold of all the food in your stomach, and digest it alone without the help of the stomach, and let the stomach take a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. They are composed of the best digestive known to science, and are absolutely safe. One ingredient alone of one of these tablets will digest 5000 grains of food. They digest exactly the work that a good, strong, healthy stomach does.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, burning or irritation, loss of appetite, bloating, belching, aversion to food, fermentation of food, flatulence, and all other stomach troubles. They make you feel "good" before and after each meal, and make your stomach strong and healthy again. They will make you happy.

Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by registered mail a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, free of charge. Address: F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold at every drug store for 50c a box.

SANDERS—FLOWERS

Wedding of Popular Young People at Irvington—Many Friends Attend.

The wedding of Miss Annie Stuart Flowers, youngest daughter of Mrs. Frances Simmons, to Mr. William Samuel Sanders, son of the late L. I. Sanders, was celebrated February 28, in the parlors of the Hotel Irvington.

The color scheme in decoration was tastefully carried out in green and white. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Garner, of the Methodist Church. Just prior to the ceremony, Miss Ruby Spriggs sang "Love Me and the World is Mine." The wedding march from "Mazurka" was played by Mrs. Treacle.

Misses Edith Miller, of Urbana, and Miss Helen Fitchett, of Irvington, were the bridesmaids, and Mr. George Busselles attended the groom as best man. The bridesmaids wore white or gandy-trimmed lace, and carried bouquets of ferns.

The bride came in with her brother-in-law, Mr. Benjamin Chilton. She was becomingly attired in white silk trimmed with point lace. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and her flowers were Bride's roses.

The wedding was followed by a largely attending reception. The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome wedding gifts.
